Re: A.07-11-014

Dear Judge Reed:

AT&T and Comcast Phone of California, LLC ("Comcast Phone") have met and conferred concerning 1) the process under which AT&T will act as a Default Carrier for Comcast Phone customers in its franchise territory and 2) the issue of reimbursement of extraordinary costs to AT&T by Comcast Phone, if any. AT&T and Comcast Phone have agreed to the process set forth below and AT&T has advised Comcast Phone that it does not anticipate incurring any costs that would be subject to reimbursement by Comcast Phone if this process is observed.

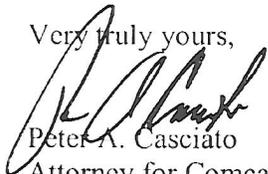

- Comcast Phone shall distribute the current 30 day joint notice prior to discontinuance, as required by the Commission, to existing Comcast Phone customers on or about March 10, 2008. Comcast Phone will initiate soft dial tone (customers would have only the ability to make 911 calls and 611 calls to Comcast Phone customer service) in two installments. Because soft dial tone is being initiated in two installments, Comcast Phone will send customers a further notice thereafter informing them when they will actually be placed on soft dial tone.
- Under the two-installment process, Comcast Phone will place half of its customers on soft dial tone on day 1 of the discontinuance process, and the remaining half will be placed on soft dial tone one week later. Comcast Phone and AT&T have agreed to an alternative process in the instance projections on March 15, 2008 indicate that there will be significantly more than 1,500 customers remaining on the network as of April 15, 2008. If there are significantly more than 1,500 existing customers, Comcast Phone and AT&T will meet and confer and utilize a process that would place 200 customers per day on soft dial tone.

- To help in expediting any transfers of service, Comcast Phone will provide AT&T a customer list of remaining customers. AT&T may, should it choose to, contact these customers to offer service. AT&T and Comcast Phone agree that this customer list will be provided upon the mailing of Comcast Phone's current 30 day joint notice , and thereafter, on a weekly basis.
- AT&T, as the Default Carrier, will not be required to contact Comcast Phone customers in order to provide them new service. Rather, Comcast Phone customers will secure new service by contacting the Default Carriers or any other service provider they choose.
- When any customer who has been placed on soft dial tone calls Comcast Phone and indicates that they wish to have AT&T service initiated, Comcast Phone will cooperate with AT&T to provide the customer with AT&T's customer service telephone number.

Should you have any questions concerning this matter, please contact the undersigned and Anna Kapetanakos of AT&T California at (415) 778-1480.

Very truly yours,

Peter A. Casciato
Attorney for Comcast Phone of
