Workshop Notice: Energy Efficiency Market Transformation

June 3, 2009
9 am – 5 pm

California Public Utilities Commission
505 Van Ness Avenue, Auditorium
(Corner of Van Ness Avenue and McAllister Street)
San Francisco

SCOPE OF WORKSHOP

The California Energy Efficiency Strategic Plan (CEESP) identifies market transformation as a major goal for energy efficiency programs. The CEESP articulates a vision for market transformation that makes substantial progress “toward more efficient technologies and practices in each of the customer end use sectors, (including) how cross-cutting sectors will further address these efforts.” Market transformation can be advanced with the inclusion of measure-based utility programs in efforts that employ both “push” and “pull” market strategies to capture short and long-term energy savings. Moving in this direction will take collaboration from the CPUC, utilities and all relevant stakeholders, as ratepayer-funded utility programs are just one part of market transformation, and there are many other actors who are important for significant movement on this issue.

The CEESP called for the “development of milestones to measure progress towards this goal, and a targeted time frame that ensures market transition” but does not identify the specific process. D-08-09-040 further stated that “the Commission will take action by the end of 2009, or when the IOU 2009-2011 portfolio’s are approved, whichever is sooner, on the remaining issues that need to be addressed in market transformation. This includes, at a minimum, identifying the process to track progress towards defined end points for program efforts and progress metrics” (D-08-09-040, p. 10).

With this in mind, the purpose of the Market Transformation workshop will be to address the following three areas:

- Define and review the basic tenants of market transformation
- Begin developing a shared understanding of indicators for measures and programs that lead to market transformation
- Build on the aforementioned indicators and discuss a process to collect data to track market change

An agenda for the workshop will be provided by Energy Division before May 27, 2009. A call-in telephone number and gotowebinar URL will be provided with the agenda.

For additional information about the workshop, please contact Jordana Cammarata at jnc@cpuc.ca.gov or (415) 703-1606.

SCOPE OF WORKSHOP

This workshop is designed to achieve 3 objectives:

1. To generate understanding about the opportunity CA has to rapidly change its residential program model.
2. To identify the best role for utility programs given the many new market influences.
3. To have parties debate the merits and weaknesses of an ED staff Straw Man proposal for an IOU prescriptive program to be implemented in parallel to the Home Energy Efficiency Survey and the Whole House Home Performance program.

The CPUC has set a strategic goal of reaching all 13 million residential homes across the state with comprehensive home improvements by 2020. The IOUs each proposed a home performance program totaling $13 million for 2009-2011 dedicated specifically to incubating the home performance industry through training, certification, outreach, education, and business coaching for contractors. Simultaneous to these efforts in California, comprehensive home performance for our nation’s entire stock of 127 million existing residential homes has become a serious focal point of attention by the Obama administration’s American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA). Rapid ramp-up of capacity within the home performance industry as desired by the California Energy Efficiency Strategic Plan (CEESP) is in line with the energy and job creation goals of the ARRA.

The long term objective in the CEESP for existing homes is clearly written as Residential Chapter Goal 2: “Transform home improvement markets to apply whole-house energy solutions to existing homes.” ED has developed a draft “Short Term IOU Objective” that responds to the convergence of market influences and the opportunities they may provide. "Capitalize on the coincidence of a new program cycle and state and federal attention to build robust market demand for home performance while providing the industry with the support necessary to provide effective market delivery."

To support this short term objective, and given the uncertain future in this market, ED is considering following the carefully crafted policy direction within the Retrofit for Energy and Environmental Performance (REEP) language within the Waxman/Markey legislation. Specifically, this means implementing within 2009-2011 both a prescriptive program and a performance-based program to whole house retrofits.

The ED staff Straw Man proposal for an IOU prescriptive program attempts to marry the dual path approach to market transformation envisioned in the REEP language to the Home Energy Efficiency Survey (HEES) and the Whole House Home Performance (WHHP) program. The Straw Man proposal will be sent to parties prior to the workshop for review. At the workshop, a panel of experts will present their thoughts on the proposal and engage in moderated discussion with parties.
