10/3/00 A00-07-034 Red and White Ferries, Inc., to temporarily suspend scheduled weekday vessel common carrier service between Richmond and San Francisco.

Summary: On October 2, 2000, John L. Clark of the law firm of Goodin, MacBride, Squeri, Ritchie & Day, LLP, on behalf of Red & White Ferries, Inc. ("Red & White"), sent written material (attached to the notice, except the revenue cost comparison) to Lynn McGhee, advisor to Cmmr. Duque. Substantively-identical materials were also sent to Laura Krannawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, Trina Horner, advisor to Cmmr. Lynch, and Jonathan Lakritz, advisor to Cmmr. Wood. The written material included a cover memorandum enclosing (i) a revenue/cost comparison for Red & White's current operations, which was submitted pursuant to Public Utilities Code Sec. 583; and (ii) letters from the City of Richmond supporting Red & White's suspension of service. The materials submitted to McGhee, Horner and Lakritz also included copies of prior decisions authorizing emergency interim suspension of service and recognizing the constitutional right of a cashless common carrier to unilaterally discontinue service.

- A99-08-026 San Diego Gas & Electric Company, for approval of a PX credit and related computations.

Summary: On September 29, 2000, Kimberley Freeman, State Regulatory Relations Administrator, Sempra Energy (Sempra), met with Cmmr. Duque in San Francisco. Also present were Laura Krannawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque; George Cluff, Chris Blunt, and Julio Ramos, Office of Ratepayer Advocates; David Croyle, Regulatory Policy & Analysis Manager, and Trina Burnham, Regulatory Case Administrator, both of Sempra; Mike Hoover, Southern California Edison Company; Mark Joseph, CUE; Sue Mara, WPTF, Sara Myers, CEERT; James Weil, Aglet; Les Guliasi, Sabrina Chaw, and Janice Frazier-Hampton, of Pacific Gas & Electric Company; Mona Petrochko, and Alan Comnes, MRW, for Alliance for Retail Market; Peter Bray, The New Power Company; Michael Nelson, Commonwealth Energy; Rick Counihan, Green Mountain Energy. Freeman urged the Commission to adopt the proposed decision (“PD”) of ALJ Barnett. Freeman stated that the PD correctly bases the credit on marginal cost principles and that the PD’s credit estimates are closer to what the utility can avoid. Freeman explained that the PD can be implemented without subsidizing the market. Croyle commented that although San Diego Gas & Electric Company (SDG&E) filed testimony based on long-run marginal cost methodology, both the PD and alternate decision (“AD”) of Cmmr. Nepper incorrectly state that SDG&E estimated short-run marginal cost. Croyle also explained that the AD overstates the Power Exchange credit by including certain costs in the credit that cannot be avoided in the short run or the long run.

Summary: On September 29, 2000, Marc Joseph, attorney for the Coalition of California Utility Employees, participated in an all-party meeting with Cmmr. Duque in San Francisco. Also present were: Laura Krannawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, George Cluff and Chris Blunt, of the Commission, Julio Ramos of the Office of Ratepayer Advocates, Kimberly Freeman, David Croyle, and Petrina Burnham, of Sempra Energy, Mike Hoover of Southern California Edison Company, Sue Mara of the Western Power Trading Forum, Sara Myers of CEERT, James Weil of Aglet, Les Guliasi, Janice Frazier-Hampton and Sabrina Chaw, of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Mona Petrochko and A. Alan Comnes, MRW, for the Alliance for Retail Markets, Peter Bray of the New Power Company, Michael Nelson of Commonwealth Energy, and Rick Counihan of Green Mountain Energy. Joseph stated that the amount of money at stake was small, but the principle was important. Joseph explained that the Commission has always based electric credits on marginal cost, not average cost and that average cost credits would be a subsidy to marketers. Joseph argued that given the very high Power Exchange prices, if marketers had anything of value to offer customers it would overwhelm the amount of subsidy they are seeking in this case. Joseph noted that if marketers cannot offer anything of value in the San Diego situation, there is no reason to offer subsidies.

Summary: On October 2, 2000, Marc Joseph, attorney for the Coalition of California Utility Employees, participated in an all-party meeting with Cmmr. Wood in San Francisco. Also present were: Maryam Ebke, advisor to Cmmr. Wood, Chris Blunt of the Office of Ratepayer Advocates, Kimberly Freeman, Sue Garcia and David Croyle, of Joseph stated that the amount of money at stake was small, but the principle was important. Joseph explained that the Commission has always based electric credits on marginal cost, not average cost and that average cost credits would be a subsidy to marketers. Joseph argued that given the very high Power Exchange prices, if marketers had any "new products and services" to offer customers it would overwhelm the amount of subsidy they are seeking in this case. Summary: LATE FILED. On September 26, 2000, Michael Hoover, Director of Regulatory Affairs for Southern California Edison Company (Edison), met with Ann Watson, advisor to Cmmr. Bilas, in San Francisco. Also present were: Peter Lersey, Chief Administrative Officer of Divestiture of Edison, and Glen Davis, Vice President of the AES Corporation (AES). The representatives of Edison and AES stated that prompt approval of the application is important and mentioned the contractual rights of either party to the transaction to terminate the transaction if certain conditions including Commission approval are not satisfied within a certain time. The representatives of Edison and AES stated that both the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power and Nevada Power Company have decided to sell their shares of the Mohave plant to AES at the same pro rata price as Edison, but under the terms of their transactions those two co-owners cannot complete their sales unless the Edison sale is also completed.

Summary: LATE FILED. On September 29, 2000, James Weil, Director of Aglet Consumer Alliance (Aglet), attended an all-party meeting with Cmmr. Duque in San Francisco. Also present were: Laura Krannawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, Julio Ramos, Chris Blunt and George Cluff for the Office of Ratepayer Advocates, Kimberly Freeman, David Croyle, and Petrina Burnham, of Sempra Energy, Mike Hoover of Southern California Edison Company (Edison), Sue Mara of the Western Power Trading Forum, Marc Joseph for the Coalition of California Utility Employees, Sara Myers of CEERT, James Weil of Aglet, Les Guliasi, Janice Frazier-Hampton and Sabrina Chaw, of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Mona Petrochko and A. Alan Comnes, MRW, for the Alliance for Retail Markets, Peter Bray of the New Power Company, Michael Nelson of Commonwealth Energy, and Rick Counihan of Green Mountain Energy. Weil stated that he agreed with findings in the proposed decision and alternates that wholesale customers benefit from reliability must run (RMR) services, and that failure to allocate RMR costs to wholesale customers is unjust and unreasonable. Weil described Edison's resistance to revising the allocation as "stonewalling." Weil noted that threatening a disallowance in future proceedings might not be effective and suggested to adopt a policy that retail customers should not subsidize wholesale customers for RMR costs. Weil explained that this would put the burden on Edison and that failure to take action would expose Edison to penalties under Public Utilities Code Section 702.
