1. Introduction In July 2025, Charter Communications, Inc. and Charter Communications Holdings, LLC (collectively, Charter), Cox Enterprises, Inc. and Cox California (Cox) (collectively, Joint Applicants) filed an application (Application) for approval of the transfer of Cox to Charter. TURN and the Center for Accessible Technology (CforAT) timely filed a joint protest, identifying issues with Joint Applicants' proposed standard of review, lack of information in the Application on key issues, including Joint Applicant's characterization of competition, benefits to enterprise and residential consumers, impact on California workers and Environmental and Social Justice (ESJ) communities, and a lack of information on Joint Applicant's low-income offerings and commitments to diversity and inclusion. As is typical with mergers and acquisitions featuring telecommunications providers of Joint Applicants' size, the proposed transaction raised many issues and attracted the attention of a diverse group of intervenors, who often had different opinions or approaches on key issues.	Joint Application of Charter and Cox Enterprises, Inc. for Approval Pursuant to Public Utilities Code Section 854 of the Indirect Transfer of Control of Cox (July 30, 2026); Protest of TURN and CforAT of Joint Application (Sept. 5, 2025) (TURN & CforAT Protest).

This proceeding included robust discovery propounded by multiple parties (including TURN), four sets of public participation hearings in February 2026, three sets of intervenor testimony, four days of evidentiary hearings in April 2026, 195 exhibits admitted into the proceeding record, post-hearing opening and reply briefs, two multi-issue settlements, and the issuance of two proposed decisions with significant substantive differences. In August 2026, the Commission issued D.26-08-033 (the Final Decision), a modified version of one of the two proposed decisions, which approved the two settlements and granted Charter’s acquisition of Cox subject to additional mitigation measures.	See Decision Granting Indirect Transfer of Control Subject to the Terms of the Joint Settlement (July 9, 2026) (Ormond PD); Decision Granting Indirect Transfer of Control Subject to the Settlement Agreements and Mitigation Measures (July 9, 2026) (Baker Alt PD).
2. Application of Public Utilities Code Section 854(a)-(c) Section 854 of the Public Utilities Code governs transfers of control of public utilities and has three sub-parts that can apply to telecommunications providers based on its gross annual California revenues. Throughout this proceeding, Joint Applicants urged the Commission to only apply one subsection, subsection (a), asserting that the proposed transaction would take place at the holding company level and that “the only California utility” party to it had revenues below the thresholds. Throughout this proceeding, TURN urged the Commission to apply subsections (a) through (c), arguing that the Commission holds expansive authority to review transactions under Section 854 and noting that certain parties to the proposed transaction may meet the revenue thresholds to trigger review under subsections (b) and (c). The Assigned ALJ asked parties to discuss “the applicability of Public Utilities Code Section 854(a),(b),(c)” at the October 2025 Pre-Hearing Conference, where TURN discussed the Commission’s application of the subsections of 854 in prior proceedings, again encouraging the Commission to apply subsections (a) through (c). The Assigned ALJ subsequently made clear that the	See, e.g., Application at 12-13; Joint Applicants’ Post-Hearing Opening Brief (May 22, 2016) at 7 (Joint Applicants’ Opening Brief). Commission would take an expansive approach to the proceeding's scope. The Final Decision agreed with TURN and applied subsections (a) through (c). The Final Decision also stated that certain "entities that are party to the proposed transaction" had gross annual California revenues that exceeded the thresholds. 3. Examination and Inclusion of Joint Applicants' Wireless and Broadband Services During this proceeding, the Commission sought input from parties on whether it was appropriate to take the Joint Applicants wireless and broadband services into account when utilizing Section 854 to determine if the proposed transaction was within the public interest. In its joint protest with CforAT, TURN argued that in the Application, Joint Applicants make claims about how the proposed transaction will improve wireless and broadband competition in California, therefore, it is well within the scope of the proceeding for the Commission to review their impacts. TURN also argued that the Joint Applicants could not simultaneously claim that there would be benefits to Cox's wireless and broadband customers yet fail to provide the information an analysis for the Commission to assess those claims. In the Final Decision, the Commission discussed the record pertaining to Joint Applicants' broadband and wireless services and related provisions in the two settlement agreements filed in this proceeding. Further, as discussed in more detail below, the Commission imposed additional mitigation measures regarding Joint Applicants' broadband and wireless voice services.	See D.26-08-033 at 17-18. 4a. Section 854(a) Requirements TURN argued that even if the Commission only applied subsection (a) in its review of the proposed transaction, it nonetheless had expansive authority to	TURN & CforAT Protest at 3; Opening Brief of TURN review the proposed transaction under subsection (a) alone. TURN argued that the proposed transaction did not meet the public interest standard and therefore did not satisfy the requirements of subsection (a). As discussed above, the Commission adopted TURN’s more general recommendation to also apply subsections (b) and (c), but the Final Decision implied that TURN’s interpretation of the Commission’s review authority under subsection (a) alone is correct.	(May 22, 2026) at 4-5 (TURN Opening Brief). D.26-08-033 at 16 (“TURN acknowledges that the Commission has broad authority to examine transactions under Pub. Util. Code Section 854(a) alone.” (emphasis added)).

4b. Section 854(b) Requirements Subsection 854(b) has three elements: the short-term and long-term economic benefits to ratepayers, the equitable allocation of forecasted economic benefits, and no adverse effect on competition. TURN urged the Commission to apply all three elements to its review of the proposed transaction and argued that the proposed transaction did not meet the standard in subsection (b) without additional mitigation measures. As discussed in individual detail below, the Final Decision adopts mitigation measures related to these elements and discusses consumer benefits and the impact of the proposed transaction on competition in that analysis.	TURN Opening Brief at 5. See D.26-08-033 at 25-26, 58-60, OPs 4-11.
4b(i). Impact of the Proposed Transaction on Competition Section 854(b)(3) states that before authorizing a merger, acquisition, or transfer of control of a telephone corporation, the Commission must find that such a transaction will not adversely affect competition. TURN argued that while Joint Applicants claimed that the proposed transaction would improve	Cal. Pub. Util. Code § 854(b)(3).

competition, they provided no evidence for their claim, instead focusing on the benefits that would be gained by Joint Applicant’s customers. TURN argued that while Joint Applicants claimed that the proposed transaction would improve competition, they provided no evidence for their claim, instead focusing on the benefits that would be gained by Joint Applicant’s customers. Instead, the proposed transaction would reinforce the national duopoly of incumbent telephone providers and cable companies in the provision of a converged bundled of voice and broadband services. TURN also argued that Joint Applicants were mischaracterizing their actual assessments of competition and that the Commission should not consider satellite and fixed wireless providers as true broadband competitors to Joint Applicants. TURN further urged the Commission to reject Joint Applicants’ characterization of competition and to place conditions and mitigation measures on the transaction to ensure that competition, employees, and consumers (especially low-income customers, and those in ESJ Communities) are protected from any negative effects of the proposed transaction. In the Final Decision, despite TURN’s recommendation for further analysis and mitigation measures to address competitive harms, the Commission found that combined with the two settlements and additional mitigation measures it imposed, the proposed transaction met the overall standard in Section 854(b). The Commission, however, did agree with TURN on the need for additional mitigation measures, which are discussed in more detail below.	TURN & CforAT Protest at 7-8, 10-11. Application at 15-16. 4b(ii). Short-Term and Long-Term Benefits to Ratepayers Claimed Savings

A central piece of Joint Applicants’ asserted benefits of the proposed transaction was that Cox customers could take advantage of Charter’s lower prices for video, mobile wireless, and fixed broadband service, particularly if consumers purchase bundled service from Charter. TURN rebutted these claims and highlighted the general lack of specific, concrete, measurable, and enforceable commitments by Charter regarding customer savings, particularly before the submission of the settlements. First, Charter’s recurring claim of the greatest customer savings were based on services and prices already available to current Charter customers. TURN developed the record on Charter’s business practice of upselling, or the practice of Charter customer service agents attempting to convince consumers to purchase additional lines or types of service from Charter. As discussed below, the Commission ultimately adopted two mitigation measures intended to reduce costs or fees for the post-merger company’s customers in certain circumstances. Price discrimination Over the course of this proceeding, TURN’s expert witness discussed two studies that found that Charter had engaged in price discrimination in California through its use of promotional pricing.² (In sum, Charter offered lower promotional broadband prices to residents of wealthier neighborhoods in southern California but charged residents of lower-income neighborhoods more for the same service.) TURN advocated for the Commission to require Charter to be more transparent on pricing and adequately mitigate discriminatory pricing practices. While one of the settlement agreements submitted in this proceeding limited Charter’s ability to engage in promotional pricing in California, TURN argued it had too many exceptions and still allowed excessive variances in promotional pricing. TURN accordingly	See, e.g., Application at 23-31; Joint Applicants’ Opening Brief at 18. TURN Opening Brief at 5-6, 8-9; Reply Brief of TURN (June 5, 2026) at 15-17 (TURN Reply Brief). asked the Commission to impose additional mitigation measures. As discussed below, the Commission ultimately adopted two mitigation measures intended to reduce costs or fees for post-merger Charter’s customers in certain circumstances. LifeLine Participation In its joint protest with CforAT, TURN highlighted the lack of information in the Application about Joint Applicants’ California and federal Lifeline offerings and a lack of commitment by Charter to continue participating in California LifeLine if the proposed transaction was approved. TURN urged the Commission to condition approval of the proposed transaction on a requirement for Charter to continue participating in California Lifeline, even after Charter entered a settlement that would require it to participate in the California LifeLine Home Broadband Pilot program, as that commitment was for short duration and did not address participation in the main LifeLine program. Further, TURN also developed the record on the fact that Charter’s promotional pricing applied to plans offered as part of the Commission’s Home Broadband Pilot, meaning that Pilot subscribers’ co-payments would increase over time as promotional pricing “stepped up” to persistent pricing, potentially rendering their service unaffordable. TURN recommended that the Commission craft mitigation measures to address equipment rental fees or charges for low-income customers. As discussed below, the Final Decision imposes a mitigation measure that addresses fees for residential cable customers. Low-income Broadband Offerings TURN also developed the record on Joint Applicants’ voluntary, non-LifeLine supported low-income broadband offerings, particularly the fact that Cox customers would lose access to Cox’s unique low-income broadband offerings, which offered faster speeds and more ways to qualify than Charter’s Spectrum Internet Assist. TURN recommended that the Commission impose conditions requiring Charter to improve Spectrum Internet Assist and continue	Adoption of Settlement Agreement (June 1, 2026) at (TURN Charter/PAO Settlement Opening Comments) at 14-15. offering Cox’s low-income offerings, as the settlement agreements had limited-duration terms regarding other lines of low-income broadband service instead. The Commission did not impose such conditions, and the Final Decision instead found that the Application, along with the settlements and the Commission’s additional mitigation measures, met the standard in Section 854(b). Infrastructure Deployment Charter initially offered no plans to deploy additional infrastructure to unserved and underserved locations in its service territory. TURN highlighted Joint Applicants’ lack of commitments regarding broadband deployment and explained that Charter’s reliance on the Broadband Equity, Access, and Deployment program (BEAD) awards to reach the unserved and underserved locations in Charter’s service territory was misplaced, as BEAD funding for large portions of southern California counties served by the Joint Applicants were provisionally awarded to satellite providers, which offered less reliable and more expensive service. TURN recommended that the Commission at least require Charter to commit to upgrades of Joint Applicants’ California networks. Charter reached a settlement with another party that included terms regarding network upgrades and network buildouts. TURN highlighted the limited and conditional nature of these terms, including how one based on a condition on the proposed transaction from New York was weaker than the original New York version. TURN recommended that the Commission impose additional conditions related to certain settlement terms to strengthen them and cautioned the Commission should not over-value the potential public interest benefits of these settlement terms. As discussed above, the Final Decision instead found that the Application, along with the unmodified settlements and the Commission’s	Technology Fund for Adoption of Settlement Agreement (June 1, 2026) at 6 (TURN Charter/CETF Settlement Opening Comments); TURN Charter/PAO Settlement Opening Comments at 12. additional mitigation measures, met the standard in Section 854(b). Mitigation Measures in the Final Decision TURN recommended that the Commission adopt mitigation measures to address each of the above-discussed issues. As a general matter, TURN also recommended that if other jurisdictions adopted public interest conditions or mitigation measures on the proposed transaction, the Commission should adopt version of those conditions to benefit California consumers. (TURN’s expert witness provided testimony discussing some specific conditions from New York and Connecticut.³) TURN also recommended that the Commission to adopt additional conditions from other states, which the Final Decision declined to do. The Final Decision adopted two mitigation measures intended to benefit ratepayers by reducing fees or protecting price for life offers. Both are based on conditions or mitigation measures imposed on the proposed transaction in other states. The first is based on a condition imposed in Connecticut that requires Joint Applicants to honor price for life agreements with residential customers. The second is based on a New York condition that prohibits Joint Applicants for charging fees to residential cable customers to exchange equipment when they upgrade or downgrade their service or when they return rented equipment. 4b(iii). Equitably Allocate Short-Term and Long-Term Economic Benefits TURN specifically urged the Commission to consider Section 854(b)(2) in its review of the proposed transaction, which requires the Commission to “[e]quitably allocate, where the commission has ratemaking authority, the total short-term and long-term forecasted economic benefits” of a proposed transaction. Specifically, because of its lack of	TURN Opening Brief at 19-22; TURN Reply Brief at 32-33.

commitment to pass on financial benefits of the merger to customers, TURN recommended that the Commission require Charter to issue its customers a bill credit based to more equitably allocate savings and synergies from the merger. As discussed in more detail below, the Commission decided to impose a mitigation measure in the Final Decision that requires Charter to issue customer credits during specified outages instead.	D.26-08-033 at COL 8, OP 5.
4c. Section 854(c) Requirements Section 854(c) requires the Commission to consider eight criteria and to “find, on balance, that the merger, acquisition, or control proposal is in the public interest.” TURN argued that absent additional mitigation measures, the proposed transaction would not meet the standard in subsection (c). The Final Decision considered these criteria and found, on balance, with the settlements and additional mitigation measures, that the proposed transaction met the standard in subsection (c). TURN discusses individual criteria below.	TURN Opening Brief at 30-31. D.26-08-033 at 31, 55-56, COL 15.
4c(i). Impact of the Proposed Transaction on the Financial Condition of Resulting Entity Before authorizing a merger, Section 854(c)(1) requires the Commission to find that the proposed transaction will maintain or improve the financial condition of the resulting public utility doing business in the state. In its protest, TURN argued that while the Joint Applicants stated that the transaction was likely to lead significant savings for the combined company from synergies and economies of scale, the Joint Applicants provided no quantitative data or support for its claims, either in total or in California-specific terms. As such, TURN recommended mitigation measures that would have more equitably allocated the financial benefits of the proposed transaction with consumers, as discussed above.	Cal. Pub. Util. Code § 854(c)(1). TURN & CforAT Protest at 11.

In the Final Decision, the Commission determined that the settlements and additional mitigation measures caused the proposed transaction to generally meet the requirement of Section 854(c).	D.26-08-033 at 31, COL 15.
4c(ii). Impact of the Proposed Transaction on Service Quality Joint Applicants asserted that the proposed transaction would benefit Cox customers by bringing Charter’s voluntary Customer Commitment to them. TURN rebutted these claims by arguing that the Customer Commitment, being voluntary, was something that Charter could end at any time and that Charter was not adequately tracking metrics related to its Customer Commitment, meaning that it could not make concrete and measurable commitments related to it. TURN recommended that the Commission require Charter to continue its Customer Period for ten years under terms at least as generous to customers as they were during the proceeding. The two settlement agreements submitted in this proceeding did not address service quality in terms of customer redress for outages. The Final Decision partially adopted TURN’s recommendation by requiring the post-merger company to offer customer credits for internet and voice service outages lasting two hours or longer. In its comments on the Proposed Decision, TURN successfully rebutted party comments that recommended weakening and shortening these	See, e.g., Application at 18. mitigation measures and further recommended that the Commission clarify that this requirement applied to Charter’s wireline and wireless voice services. TURN also urged the Commission that if it were to adopt exceptions to these credit requirements, that it also adopt documentation requirements from General Order 133-E in order for post-transaction Charter to claim an outage fell under an exception. The Commission updated the Final Decision to clarify that the outage credit “applies for voice service, whether VoIP, twisted copper pairs, or mobile” and that exemptions would not include areas subject to backup power requirements and that other claims of exemptions “must be substantiated with applicable data and reports.”	2026) at 2-4 (TURN Baker Alt PD Reply Comments). D.26-08-033 at 67, OPs 5-6.
4c(iii). Impact of the Proposed Transaction on Quality of Management Section 854(c) also requires the Commission to analyze whether the proposed transaction will have a positive impact on the quality of management of the post-transaction company. TURN noted that the post-merger management was unlikely to improve, as the Joint Applicants had stated publicly that Charter CEO Chris Winfrey was to remain the CEO of the post transaction company. Given the ongoing suit naming Mr. Winfrey as a defendant due to his comments to shareholders,⁴ TURN urged the Commission to look closely at the quality of the merged entity’s management and whether management’s conduct would result in further litigation in the future. While the Final Decision does not discuss TURN’s concerns in detail, the Commission did conclude that more was needed beyond the to meet the factors in Section 854(c), as discussed elsewhere in this claim. 4c(iv). Fairness and Reasonableness to Affected Employees Beginning with its Protest, TURN raised concerns about the impact of the proposed transaction’s impact on Joint Applicants’ employees, especially given Charter’s recent history of layoffs—including layoffs in California. TURN continued to develop the record on employment issues over the course of the proceeding, including the fact that the proposed transaction was unlikely to create jobs in California. TURN recommended multiple conditions to ensure that the proposed transaction benefitted Joint Applicants’ employees in California. The Commission benefitted from this record development, though it ultimately did not see the need to propose TURN’s recommended mitigation measures in addition to the terms of the settlements.	TURN & CforAT Protest at 14-15. TURN Opening Brief at 33-36. D.26-08-033 at 31, COL 15.
4c(v). Benefit to State and Local Economies and Communities in the Areas Served by Joint Applicants Throughout the proceeding, Joint Applicants made vague and non-committal claims about how the proposed transaction would benefit the communities they serve, relying largely on Charter’s prior record with its “philanthropic and engagement” programs and a grant that would be split across the 41 states in which Charter operates. TURN conducted discovery on these programs and worked to rebut Joint Applicants’ claims, highlighting Joint Applicants’ lack of robust, concrete, California-specific commitments and the unclear future of Cox’s Cox Innovation labs, a digital equity program organized in partnership with the Boys & Girls Clubs of America. TURN accordingly recommended mitigation measures to ensure that meaningful benefits flowed to the communities Joint Applicants serve. The settlements included $30 million in digital equity payments to one of the settling parties, but TURN argued that no one organization could be reasonably expected to bridge the digital divide in Joint Applicants’ California service territories and again	See, e.g., Charter Response to ALJ Inquiry at 43-50. TURN Opening Brief at 36-37; TURN Reply Brief at 38-40. TURN Charter/CETF Settlement Opening Comments at 13.

urged the Commission to require more from Joint Applicants. As discussed in other portions of this claim, the Final Decision imposed additional mitigation measures to address aspects of public safety, pricing, fees, and Tribal outreach, and access to Public, Educational, and Government Access (PEG) Channels, which are intended to benefit the communities Joint Applicants serve. The Commission found that those mitigation measures, combined with the settlements, met the standard in Section 854(c).	D.26-08-033 at 31, COL 15.
5a. Impact of the Proposed Transaction on the Attainment of the Commission’s Environmental and Social Justice Goals In its Protest, TURN raised issue with the Application’s general lack of detail on the impact of the proposed transaction on ESJ communities. TURN developed the record on Joint Applicants’ failure to map ESJ communities, general failure to discuss them in its testimony, and their attempt to “double-count” philanthropic programs they had already raised to argue that the proposed transaction would benefit state and local economies. TURN urged the Commission to impose additional mitigation measures to ensure that post-transaction Charter would map ESJ communities in Joint Applicants’ service territories and mitigate the harms of Charter rescinding its diversity, equity, and inclusion policies and programs (discussed in more detail, below), particularly in terms of their impact of employee diversity at the post-transaction company. One of the two settlements submitted in this proceeding attempted to address impacts on the diversity of Joint Applicants’ suppliers, but TURN submitted analysis pointing out the limitations of those settlement terms and urging the Commission to impose its own mitigation measures. TURN argued that the proposed transaction implicated multiple goals in the Commission’s ESJ Action Plan. The Final Decision “assess[ed] the application’s adherence” with three of the ESJ Action Plan goals TURN identified and an additional goal. The Final Decision found that the Application, combined with the two settlement agreements and additional mitigation measures, benefitted ESJ communities. The Final Decision did, however, agree with TURN that without the settlements and additional mitigation measures, Joint Applicants “failed to put forward measurable, verifiable, and enforceable commitments necessary to find that the transaction will not impact ESJ communities” TURN’s participation on this issue identified important concerns with the Application and more fully developed the record on Joint Applicants’ claimed benefits of the proposed transaction. 5b. Impact of the Proposed Transaction on Tribal Communities The Commission’s definition of ESJ communities includes Tribal lands. TURN developed the record on the fact that Charter serves California Tribes and Joint Applicants’ misleading claims about investing in Tribes. TURN specifically recommended mitigation measures that would create requirements for Tribal outreach, engagement, and contracting and benefits and job opportunities for Tribal members (as Tribal membership is a political, not racial, classification and therefore permissible to consider under Charter’s interpretation of federal law). One settlement agreement had terms regarding Tribal consultation, but TURN argued that these terms were too easily satisfied, that other settlement terms failed to benefit Tribal communities, and that the settlements reflected a downward trend in terms of	TURN Opening Brief at 43-47; TURN Reply Brief at 44-46. conditions regarding Tribal consultations and benefits. TURN again underscored the need for the Commission to craft its own mitigation measures. The Final Decision agreed with TURN’s concerns on Tribal consultation and added Ordering Paragraph (“OP”) 11, requiring the post-merger company to conduct at least one annual email consultation with each Tribe in its territory and verify those email consultations in its annual compliance filing. TURN notes that the Final Decision includes a concurrence by Commissioner Darcie Houck about the revision to language from the Baker Alternate Proposed Decision regarding Tribal consultations. 5c. Express Inclusion of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in the Proceeding Scope The Application was conspicuously silent on how the proposed transaction would affect Joint Applicants’ DEI policies and programs. On February 25, 2026, Charter sent a letter to the Federal Communications Commission (“FCC”) stating it had eliminated its DEI policies and programs. Joint Applicants received FCC approval of the proposed transaction two days later, on February 27. That same day, Charter submitted a letter to the Commission notifying the Commission of the commitments it had made to the FCC. TURN, writing with what was at that time all the intervenors party to the proceeding, filed a joint motion requesting that the Commission modify the proceeding schedule to require Joint Applicants to submit additional testimony or substantive filings before the April 2026 evidentiary hearings about Joint Applicants’ understanding of and plans for compliance with the Commission’s supplier diversity program and related law, given their general lack of discussion of DEI.	TURN & CforAT Protest at 20-21. Motion of TURN, CforAT, Media Alliance, Public Advocates Office, and CETF to Amend the Assigned Commissioner’s Scoping Memo and Ruling and Proceeding Schedule

The Assigned ALJ issued a ruling denying the request to modify the schedule for submission of additional testimony but expressly confirmed that “[t]he scope of this proceeding is inclusive of DEI issues suggested by Intervenor in their Amended Motion⁵” and that intervenors were free to develop the record on DEI. 6. Impact of the Proposed Transaction on Public Safety In the December 2025 Scoping Memo, the Commission scoped the issue of whether the application would affect public safety. Throughout the proceeding TURN argued that, contrary to Joint Applicants’ unsupported claims about the additional workforce, resources, and “critical equipment” the post-merger company would have, there were still significant steps it could take to increase safety and resilience of customer premises equipment within its footprint. The Commission ultimately agreed with TURN, finding that more mitigation measures were needed to completely address the public safety concerns, such as backup power availability, that TURN raised during the proceeding. As TURN pointed out, networks such as the one Charter operates require backup power both at the cell site and at the customer premises to continue functioning during a power outage. As part of its ongoing efforts to increase network resiliency, the Commission has created resiliency requirements for facilities-based wireline providers to ensure that providers have adequate plans in place to ensure 72 hours of backup power at network facilities located in high fire threat areas.⁶	Assigned Commissioner’s Scoping Memo and Ruling at 4 (Dec. 09, 2025). During Evidentiary hearings, TURN questioned Charter’s witness Mr. Falk about whether Charter was making an additional commitment to make additional information on consumer premises backup power available to customers. He answered negatively, even though Charter was required to do so as a condition of Charter’s acquisition of TWC and Bright House. In opening briefs, TURN offered language the Commission could use to craft a merger condition that would provide education on backup power and backup power options to consumers. TURN raised these concerns again in reply briefs. The Alternate Proposed Decision included a merger condition that would make access to a backup battery solution to all new residential wireline voice service customers. TURN urged the Commission to broaden this condition to include existing residential wireline service customers as well and successfully rebutted Joint Applicants’ efforts to narrow the measure. TURN also urged the condition to make a battery backup solution available at no cost to ensure that all eligible customers could access a backup battery solution. While the Commission did not wholly agree with TURN, it did accept TURN’s arguments that the post-merger company should be required to provide information about backup battery solutions to its customers, and to provide access to at least one battery backup solution that provides 72 hours of standby time.	Id. at 49, A-6; TURN Reply Brief at 48. 7. Analysis of Settlement Agreements As discussed throughout this claim, two parties (the Public Advocates Office (Cal Advocates) and the California Emerging Technology Fund (CETF)) entered settlements with Charter. TURN attended the Rule 12.1(b) settlement conference regarding the proposed settlements, submitted opening comments discussing all issues purportedly covered in each settlement, and submitted one set of combined reply comments on both settlements. TURN’s advocacy	See generally Charter/CETF Settlement Motion; Charter/PAO Settlement Motion. See generally TURN Charter/CETF Settlement Opening Comments; TURN Charter/PAO

regarding the settlements emphasized that on their own or combined with Joint Applicants' other commitments, they were insufficient to ensure the proposed transaction met the public interest standard in Section 854 and that it would be necessary for the Commission to craft additional mitigation measures. As discussed at various points above and below this section, the Final Decision included mitigation measures in addition to approving the settlements with the clarification. The majority of the additional mitigation measures reflect TURN's advocacy and recommendations. Further, in TURN's opening comments, TURN also raised potential issues with language in the Charter/CETF settlement stating that the Charter/CETF agreement would control in the event that "any conflict or inconsistency exists" between it and the Charter/Cal Advocates settlement. Because the two settlements had conceptually similar—but not word-for-word identical—terms regarding low-income broadband offerings, advertising for low-income internet offerings, and Charter's participation in the California LifeLine Home Broadband Pilot, TURN was concerned that perceived inconsistencies between the settlements would result reductions in Charter's obligations under the settlements. In the Final Decision, the Commission shared TURN's concerns. The Final Decision clarified that the Charter/Cal Advocates "will be the controlling agreement governing low-income offerings for the post-merger company." CETF and the Joint Applicants agreed to this modification. quality requirements, and the terms of any settlement agreements. CETF argued that the creation of this enforcement mechanism would be duplicative, as the settlement between CETF and the Joint Applicants contains an independent compliance monitor and other such requirements. In reply comments, TURN urged the Commission to disregard CETF’s arguments that the compliance monitor set forth in its settlement was adequate. TURN highlighted that the Alternate Proposed Decision adopted an additional settlement and its own mitigation measures that would not be subject to the Charter/CETF settlement. TURN also suggested that an additional enforcement mechanism could extend to the Charter/CETF settlement to better ensure the public benefits found therein. The Commission agreed with TURN and refused to modify or weaken the ability for Commission staff to draft a resolution creating an additional enforcement mechanism that would govern all aspects of the post-merger settlements and mitigation measures. 9. Locations of Public Participation Hearings At the Pre-Hearing Conference, the Assigned ALJ instructed Charter to submit a filing proposing locations for the Commission to hold public participation hearings (“PPHs”) for this proceeding. The Assigned ALJ also invited other parties to reply to Charter’s recommendations. TURN timely filed a reply to Charter’s filing. TURN recommended a list of potential locations intended to capture the diversity of Joint Applicants’ California service territories in terms of population density, income, racial makeup, and natural disaster risks, in contrast to Joint Applicants’ proposed list of predominantly urban and suburban areas along the California coast. TURN specifically recommended holding a PPH in Los Angeles County because Cox’s service territory extends into it. TURN also recommended that the Commission hold at least one virtual PPH to make them more accessible to the public.	Tr. Vol. 1 94:24-95:17. See generally TURN Reply to Joint Applicants’ Response to ALJ’s Inquiry (Oct. 13, 2025).

10. Grant of Motions to File Under Seal The Baker Alternate Proposed Decision would have denied all pending motions in the proceeding. By the issuance of the proposed decisions, TURN had submitted multiple motions to file confidential versions of its filings under seal, none of which had received a ruling. In TURN’s opening comments, TURN recommended that the Commission modify the Alternate Proposed Decision to grant its motions to file under seal because they supported TURN’s recommendations, some of which the Alternate Proposed Decision adopted as mitigation measures. The Commission modified the Final Decision to grant two of TURN’s motions to file under seal and specific motions to file under seal by Cal Advocates and Joint Applicants. 11. Rejection of Joint Applicants’ Schedule Modifications Throughout this proceeding, Joint Applicants voiced a desire for expeditious approval of their Application and sought multiple times to modify the schedule and hasten Commission review of the proposed transaction.⁷ Of note, these efforts included a motion in December 2025 to modify the schedule, a motion in May 2026 to modify the deadlines for settlement comments, and requests in motions for settlement and Joint Applicants’ opening brief for approval of the settlements and/or proposed transaction by certain dates. ⁷ However, Joint Applicants did not formally seek expedited review of the Application.

TURN rebutted these requests, arguing that Joint Applicants had delayed intervenors' access to confidential information, failed to timely raise concerns about the timing of Commission approval of the proposed transaction, failed to justify their proposed deadlines, sought to rush Commission review of a large record comprising many issues, and that their later requests for an expedited timeline were procedurally improper. The Assigned ALJ effectively denied Joint Applicants' December 2025 and May 2026 motions by not ruling on them. (The Final Decision formally denied those motions by denying all remaining pending motions.) In the Final Decision, the Commission also formally denied Joint Applicants' and CETF's request for review of the Charter/CETF settlement by a specified date. B. Duplication of Effort (§ 1801.3(f) and § 1802.5):

	Intervenor's Assertion	CPUC Discussion
a. Was the Public Advocate's Office of the Public Utilities Commission (Cal Advocates) a party to the proceeding?	Yes
b. Were there other parties to the proceeding with positions similar to yours?	Yes
c. If so, provide name of other parties: Center for Accessible Technology (CforAT), California Alliance for Digital Equity (CADE), East Bay Broadband Consortium (EBBC), National Institute for Workers Rights (NIWR), Media Alliance, Fresno Coalition for Digital Inclusion, California Emerging Technology Fund (CETF), Digital Equity Los Angeles (DELA).
d. Intervenor's claim of non-duplication: TURN worked with other intervenors in A.25-07-016 to coordinate efforts and ensure that work was completed effectively and efficiently. As TURN's time records show, these joint filings helped to avoid duplication of effort. In this proceeding, TURN and CforAT had aligned interests and submitted several joint filings, including a protest and four motions or motion responses. As consumer advocates, TURN and CforAT shared common concerns, particularly for consumers in Charter's and Cox's service territories. However, TURN and CforAT had unique substantive areas of focus, different discovery strategies, and each provided unique arguments when covering similar issues, influenced partially by CforAT's unique primary constituency of consumers with disabilities.⁸ For example, at evidentiary hearings, TURN cross examined Joint Applicant's witnesses on topics such as network resilience, back-up power, customer savings on broadband plans, and consumer outreach. CforAT cross-examined Joint Applicants' witnesses largely on economic and digital equity and inclusion issues that TURN did not focus on as heavily. In addition to the preparation of filings, TURN coordinated with other parties to decrease the duplication of efforts, regardless of whether a joint document was produced. This coordination reduced the number of filings submitted during the proceeding. For example, TURN, Cal Advocates, CforAT, and Media Alliance submitted a joint motion for evidentiary hearings, of which TURN was the main drafter. TURN similarly led the drafting of a joint intervenor on DEI and schedule modifications to more fully address DEI issues; CforAT led the production of an updated, amended version.

TURN initially shared some general positions with Cal Advocates and CETF but often differed in approaches and specific areas of focus. While TURN and Cal Advocates both submitted testimony on the impact of the proposed transaction on competition, the two parties took different approaches, with Cal Advocates focusing heavily on gigabit⁹ broadband competition and TURN advancing a unique perspective on the incumbent telephone company/cable company duopoly.¹⁰ Prior to settling, CETF focused on connecting unconnected households, digital literacy education, and the efficacy of Joint Applicants' customer service agents in assisting customers with enrollment in low-income service offerings.¹¹ Further, while TURN initially shared positions similar to CETF and Cal Advocates, as the proceeding progressed, those positions diverged. Both CETF and Cal Advocates settled with the Joint Applicants, did not conduct cross-examination at evidentiary hearings, and dropped their opposition to the proposed transaction.¹² TURN submitted opening and reply comments on both settlement motions explaining that they did not go far enough to address TURN's broad range of concerns and urged the Commission to adopt further mitigation measures. Even with early positional agreement, TURN continued to bring a unique perspective to the proceeding that diverged from that of CETF and Cal Advocates.

Outside of joint filings, Media Alliance and TURN largely participated on different issues. Media Alliance focused primarily on cable/video issues like PEG channels, which TURN did not contribute on besides a short portion of reply comments on the Baker Alternate Decision.¹³ Media Alliance did not conduct cross-examination at evidentiary hearings. TURN did not engage in joint work with CADE, DELA, EBBC, FCDI, or NIWR on any filings. These parties were granted party status relatively late in the proceeding (i.e., after deadlines to request to cross-examine witnesses at evidentiary hearings or on the day before submission of the proceeding), and CADE, DELA, EBBC, and FCDI largely participated jointly in subsequent filings with CforAT. TURN maintained awareness of those parties' positions and what topics they tended to cover. In those instances, TURN recognized those other parties' expertise and contributions on certain issues.¹⁴ Throughout the proceeding, TURN worked with other intervenors to ensure that consumers' interests were represented across the width and breadth of issues presented in this proceeding. Telecommunications mergers and acquisitions of this scale often result in participation by many types of intervenors, but TURN worked throughout to coordinate efficiently and develop unique positions and/or analysis. As such, TURN urges the Commission to find that any duplication of effort was minimal and necessary to ensure effective and comprehensive representation. For these reasons, TURN submits that the Commission should find no undue duplication between TURN's participation and that of other parties.

	CPUC Discussion
TURN's Request for intervenor compensation seeks an award of approximately $401,731.25 as the reasonable cost of TURN's participation in the proceeding. Considering the scope of TURN's work and the benefits garnered through TURN's participation in the proceeding, the Commission should conclude that the amount requested is reasonable. The Commission's review of the proposed transaction between Charter Communications and Cox Enterprises addressed a wide range of issues, including the Commission's jurisdiction to rule on the transaction, the transaction's impact on ESJ communities, the public benefits created by the transaction, among many others. TURN submitted a protest, several motions, responded to requests for comment, responded to each inquiry by the ALJ, and submitted all required briefs. TURN's work resulted in over 15 pleadings, at least 368 pages of substantive material, and over 60 exhibits entered into the record during evidentiary hearings. TURN participated in discovery, submitted three rounds of testimony, and participated in four days of evidentiary hearings in March, cross-examining each of Joint Applicants' witnesses. The benefits of TURN's participation on the issues presented in this proceeding, as is often the case for telecommunications proceedings, is more difficult to quantify, as it does not pertain directly to rates, subsidies, or surcharges. Here, TURN's advocacy helped achieve an outcome with greater benefits to the Commission and California residents that would not otherwise been had. Specifically, TURN advocated for multiple mitigation measures, and the Commission adopted five that would better align the proposed transaction with the public interest. First, the Commission required the post-merger entity to make at least one backup battery solution able to provide 72 hours of stand-by time available to all new residential wireline voice customers. TURN advocated that this condition should be extended to all post-merger customers rather than just "new" residential wireline customers. Second, the Commission adopted a network outage credit mitigation measure that would Charter to issue a customer credit for one day of service for every day an outage lasts two or more hours. TURN defended this measure and secured important clarifications. While the true benefit to consumers of these credits is not knowable now, they stand to help save California ratepayers subscription fees when the network they depend on is subject to an unplanned outage for more than two hours. Third, the Commission required the post-transaction entity to report how it is complying with Public Utilities Code Section 5870 for each PEG station it offers, how each of those PEG channels are treated on cable channel guides and navigation systems, and how video content submitted by the public is treated and the process by which it is prepared for and then broadcast. TURN successfully argued that the measure was proper and should not be amended to simply requiring the post-merger entity to follow existing law. Fourth, the Commission adopted a measure which would require the post-merger company to honor already made “price for life” agreements. This mitigation measure potentially saves consumers hundreds or thousands of dollars in broadband subscription fees they would otherwise be responsible for if the post-merger company was able to end an existing contract and renegotiate with new terms. This mitigation measure also reflects TURN’s recommendation for the Commission to consider other states’ conditions on the transaction. While it is difficult to attach a monetary amount to the some of the benefits new and current Charter customers will receive as a result of D.26-08-033, the benefits will provide savings and more resilient service for California consumers. TURN therefore urges the Commission to find that TURN’s participation costs are reasonable, considering the public interest benefits that TURN’s participation realized.

b. Reasonableness of hours claimed: TURN’s attorneys and advocates recorded a reasonable number of hours for their work in this proceeding. The total hours of professional time including this compensation request (approximately 1,140.25 hours of substantive work, exclusive of compensation-related work) is equivalent to over 28 weeks—more than half a year—of full-time work by a single person. TURN’s efforts included participation in evidentiary hearings, response to all opportunities for party comments and a robust motions practice. TURN seeks compensation for approximately 441.5 hours that Alexandra Green devoted to substantive issues on this proceeding. From the submission of TURN’s protest in September 2025 to the proceeding’s close in August 2026, Ms. Green was TURN’s lead advocate on this proceeding. Ms. Green was the main drafter of many of TURN’s filings covered in this claim and led TURN’s strategy and issue development on all issues, coordination with other parties, and preparation of this compensation claim. Ms. Green was also TURN’s main representative at ex parte meetings, the August 2025 Pre-Hearing Conference, and the April 2026 evidentiary hearings.

	CPUC Discussion
TURN seeks compensation for approximately 207.5 hours that Kori Cordero devoted to substantive issues on this proceeding. Mx. Cordero became TURN's Telecommunications Managing Attorney in September 2025. From then on, Mx. Cordero assisted Ms. Green in developing TURN's strategy, evidentiary hearing preparation, and the drafting of comments, briefs, and TURN's portion of the Joint Case Management Statement. Mx. Cordero also provided substantive review and feedback on all of TURN's filings. Mx. Cordero also jointly represented TURN at an ex parte meeting and at evidentiary hearings. TURN seeks Compensation for approximately 132.5 hours that Ryan Johnston devoted to substantive issues on this proceeding. Mr. Johnston assisted Ms. Green with the drafting of multiple substantive filings, including TURN's opening and reply briefs, and assisted at ex parte meetings, evidentiary hearings, and with the preparation of this compensation claim. TURN seeks compensation for approximately 38.25 hours that Regina Costa devoted to substantive issues in this proceeding. As TURN's Telecommunications Policy Director, Ms. Costa advised Ms. Green on select issues relating to public safety, network resilience, and network investment. Ms. Costa consulted with or assisted Ms. Green with the Pre-Hearing Conference, evidentiary hearings, and settlement comments on those issues. TURN seeks compensation for 12.75 hours that Leo Fitzpatrick devoted to substantive issues in this proceeding. Mr. Fitzpatrick assisted Ms. Green with research for TURN's protest to Joint Applicant's Application and for the Pre-Hearing Conference. Further, Mr. Fitzpatrick provided support on BEAD issues during the discovery process and for settlement comments. TURN seeks compensation for 305.75 hours that David Brevitz dedicated to substantive issues in this proceeding. As TURN's expert witness, Mr. Brevitz conducted financial analysis of the proposed transaction; consulted on discovery; submitted opening, reply, and supplemental testimony; and underwent cross-examination on his testimony during evidentiary hearings. TURN seeks compensation for 1.25 hours that Robert Finkelstein dedicated to substantive issues in the proceeding. Mr. Finkelstein served as Interim Telecommunications Managing Attorney from the inception of this proceeding to September 2025. During this period, he consulted with Ms. Green on preliminary strategy matters, including non-disclosure agreement (NDA) negotiations, and provided substantive feedback on TURN's protest.

	CPUC Discussion
TURN seeks compensation for the 0.75 hours that Adria Tinnin dedicated to substantive issues in the proceeding. Leveraging her knowledge of the geography and demographics of Joint Applicants' southern California service territories, Dr. Tinnin consulted with Ms. Green to inform TURN's list of recommended locations for the Public Participation Hearings held in this proceeding. Time Related to the Proposed and Alternate Decisions Given the uncertainty and myriad differences between the two proposed decisions issued in this proceeding, TURN requests the Commission finds its work on both proposed decisions reasonable. Each of the proposed decisions provided their own responses to the settlement agreements, additional mitigation measures, and differing reasoning. It was reasonable for TURN to submit separate opening comments on each proposed decision to fully develop TURN's positions on the numerous issues contained in each. Further, at the time of their issuance, it was unclear which proposed decision the Commission would adopt. Similarly, it is reasonable for TURN to have met with each of the Commissioners' offices twice, as the size of the record, complexity of issues, number of parties taking different positions than TURN, and the issuance of the two proposed decisions required additional time to address each Commissioner's interests and questions. Without these meetings, TURN would have been unable to adjust its advocacy to address specific issues or questions that arose from discussions with each office. As such, the Commission should find that the totality of TURN's ex parte time was reasonable component of proper advocacy work. Evidentiary Hearing-Related Time This proceeding included four days of remote evidentiary hearings in April 2026. All four days required preparation on the part of relevant TURN staff and TURN's expert witness, Mr. Brevitz, which included a mock cross-examination of Mr. Brevitz by TURN staff, strategy development, and coordination with other advocates. The Assigned ALJ also scheduled one informal status conference on April 7, 2026, that was related to evidentiary hearings, for which TURN prepared and at which TURN appeared. The Assigned ALJ also required TURN to submit an initial and final list of hearing exhibits by which TURN was required to submit both public redacted versions and unredacted confidential versions of all exhibits planned to be used during evidentiary hearings.¹⁵ TURN also spent significant effort working with Joint Applicants and other parties to address scheduling constraints based on the number of witnesses to be cross-examined and the limited time that was available to do so.¹⁶ Further, TURN spent significant time developing cross examination strategy, as two intervenors waived cross examination of witnesses late on the business day before evidentiary hearings began. Time Related to Potential Settlement Conversations In May 2026, TURN conversed and met with representatives from Charter and other intervenors in good faith to determine if TURN could reach settlement with Charter on any issues raised in this proceeding and potentially limit the issues in dispute and reduce Commission time and resources spent on the disposition of the Application. TURN spent a limited number of hours on this work and ceased these efforts when it became evident that a settlement was unlikely. This time is coded as “M&C.” Time Related to Discovery, Non-Disclosure Agreement Negotiations, and the Review or Use of Information Designated as Confidential TURN notes that negotiation of NDAs with the Joint Applicants, included among the time entries coded as “DISC,” took an unusually long amount of time.¹⁷ The terms of the final NDAs also increased time spent on discovery. In particular, complying with the terms of the NDAs with Joint Applicants typically meant password-protecting individual files designated as confidential, which increased the time needed to review material Joint Applicants had designated as confidential and necessitated negotiation with Joint Applicants for a waiver of that term of the NDAs to comply with the Commission’s request for the production of a version of TURN’s evidentiary hearing exhibits that were not password-protected. Further, this proceeding generated a significant amount of discovery. TURN propounded more than half a dozen data requests to Charter and Cox each. Cal Advocates propounded more than ten data requests to Charter alone, and CETF and CforAT also engaged in discovery. A robust discovery process meant TURN had a large amount of material to review as it developed its issues and strategies. Meeting or Discussions Involving Multiple TURN Advocates A relatively small percentage of hours and hourly entries reflect internal or external meetings involving two or more of TURN’s advocates or attorneys. In past compensation decisions, the Commission has deemed such entries as reflecting internal duplication that is not eligible for an award of intervenor compensation. This is not the case here. For the meetings that were among TURN’s advocates and attorneys, such meetings are essential to the effective development and implementation of TURN’s strategy for A.25-07-016. None of the attendees are there in a duplicative role. In fact, each is an active participant, bringing their particular knowledge and expertise to bear on the discussions. As a result, TURN can identify issues and angles that would almost never have come to mind but for the collaboration achievable in such settings. There were also meetings with other parties at which TURN was represented by more than one advocate on occasion. The Commission should understand that this is often essential in merger and acquisition work, which represents a wide range of complex and detailed issues that no single person is likely to master. TURN’s requested hours do not include any entries for TURN advocates where their presence at a meeting was not necessary to achieve the meeting’s purpose. TURN submits that such meetings can be part of an intervenor’s effective advocacy before the Commission, and that intervenor compensation can and should be awarded for the time of all participants in such meetings where, as here, each participant needed to be in the meeting to advance the intervenor’s advocacy efforts. Intervenor Compensation-Related Time TURN is requesting compensation for 26.25 hours that it devoted to the substantial preparation of this request for compensation and its Notice of Intent to claim compensation. This is a reasonable number of hours given the size and scope of this request due to the scope of the proceeding and the extent of TURN’s participation in it. Moreover, TURN has voluntarily reduced the number of hours claimed for preparing this request. In conclusion, the Commission should find that the number of hours claimed is entirely reasonable considering the contributions TURN has made to D.26-08-033.

Comment 1	2026 Rate for Kori Cordero For 2026, TURN requests that the Commission adopt an hourly rate of $465 for Kori Cordero. TURN previously requested this rate in an intervenor compensation claim filed in A.25-05-016 on August 14, 2026. The Commission has yet to decide on that claim. Rather than repeat the same showing here for the requested hourly rate for Mx. Cordero, TURN refers the Commission to the showing TURN previously presented in A.25-05-016.
Comment 2	2025 Rate for Regina Costa For 2025, TURN requests that the Commission adopt an hourly rate of $770 for Regina Costa. TURN previously requested this rate in an intervenor compensation claim filed in R.22-03-016 on November 25, 2025. The Commission has yet to decide on that claim. Rather than repeat the same showing here for the requested hourly rate for Ms. Costa, TURN refers the Commission to the showing TURN previously presented in R.22-03-016.
Comment 3	2026 Rate for Regina Costa For 2025, TURN requests that the Commission adopt an hourly rate of $795 for Regina Costa. TURN previously requested this rate in an intervenor compensation claim filed in A.24-10-006 on March 20, 2026. The Commission has yet to decide on that claim. Rather than repeat the same showing here for the requested hourly rate for Ms. Costa, TURN refers the Commission to the showing TURN previously presented in A.24-10-006.

²¹ Attachments not attached to final Decision

Attachment or Comment #	Description/Comment
	For 2026, TURN requests that the Commission adopt an hourly rate of $465 for Ryan Johnston. TURN previously requested this rate in an intervenor compensation claim filed in R.22-08-008 on August 17, 2026. The Commission has yet to decide on that claim. Rather than repeat the same showing here for the requested hourly rate for Mr. Johnston, TURN refers the Commission to the showing TURN previously presented in R.22-08-008.
Comment 5	2025 Rate for Adria Tinnin TURN requests that the Commission adopt a 2025 hourly rate of $275 for TURN Race Equity & Legislative Policy Director Adria Tinnin. This rate is equal to the rate authorized by the Commission in D.26-09-035 for Dr. Tinnin's work in 2024, $255, adjusted by both (1) the annual escalation rate of 3.46% for 2025 and (2) the second 5% step increase for Dr. Tinnin in the Public Policy Analyst – Level II experience tier. Calculation: $\$255 \times [1.0346 \text{ (COLA)} + 0.05 \text{ (step increase)}] = \$276.57$, rounded to $275.
Comment 6	2025 & 2026 Rates for David Brevitz For 2025, TURN requests that the Commission adopt an hourly rate of $235 for David Brevitz. TURN previously requested this rate in an intervenor compensation claim filed in A.24-10-006 on March 23, 2026. The Commission has yet to decide on that claim. Rather than repeat the same showing here for the requested hourly rate for Mr. Brevitz, TURN refers the Commission to the showing TURN previously presented in A.24-10-006. Invoices verifying Mr. Brevitz's rate are included as Attachments 4 and 5 to this claim.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. THE UTILITY REFORM NETWORK [has/has not] made a substantial contribution to D.26-08-033.
2. The requested hourly rates for THE UTILITY REFORM NETWORK's representatives [, as adjusted herein,] are comparable to market rates paid to experts and advocates having comparable training and experience and offering similar services.
3. The claimed costs and expenses [, as adjusted herein,] are reasonable and commensurate with the work performed.
4. The total of reasonable compensation is $_____.

CONCLUSION OF LAW

1. The Claim, with any adjustment set forth above, [satisfies/fails to satisfy] all requirements of Pub. Util. Code §§ 1801-1812.

ORDER

1. THE UTILITY REFORM NETWORK is awarded $_____.
2. Within 30 days of the effective date of this decision, _____ shall pay THE UTILITY REFORM NETWORK the total award. [for multiple utilities: “Within 30 days of the effective date of this decision, ^, ^, and ^ shall pay THE UTILITY REFORM NETWORK their respective shares of the award, based on their California-jurisdictional [industry type, for example, electric] revenues for the ^ calendar year, to reflect the year in which the proceeding was primarily litigated. If such data are unavailable, the most recent [industry type, for example, electric] revenue data shall be used.”] Payment of the award shall include compound interest at the rate earned on prime, three-month non-financial commercial paper as reported in Federal Reserve Statistical Release H.15, beginning [date], the 75th day after the filing of THE UTILITY REFORM NETWORK’s request, and continuing until full payment is made.
3. The comment period for today’s decision [is/is not] waived.

This decision is effective today.

Dated _____, at San Francisco, California.
