Summary: On July 13, 2000, Lee Schavrien, Director of Regulatory Case Management and Tariff Administration for Sempra Energy, left a voice-mail message for Laura Krannawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque. Schavrien stated that San Diego Gas & Electric Company's (SDG&E) June books were just closed and the Transition Cost Balancing Account had significantly overcollected in June due to the recent price spikes in the commodity market. Schavrien further stated that SDG&E would be filing an emergency advice letter seeking authorization to amortize this one-time large overcollection during the months of August and September.

Summary: On July 13, 2000, George Fraser, General Manager of Northern California Power Agency (NCPA), met with Cmmr. Lynch in Sacramento. Also present were Roger Fontes, Assistant General Manager and the Legislative and Regulatory Business Unit Manager, Kevin Smith, Regulatory Program Manager, and Barry McCarthy, counsel, for NCPA. Fraser stated that although NCPA had not yet advocated a specific form of disposition of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's (PG&E) assets, it had offered testimony in opposition to the auction process as proposed by PG&E, and had specifically addressed issues related to the ability of public agencies to participate in any divestiture auction. Fontes emphasized that NCPA strongly advocated the notion of limiting market power regardless of the ultimate disposition of the assets.

Summary: On July 13, 2000, Jim Pope, Director of Electric Utility of the City of Santa Clara (City), met with Cmmr. Lynch in Sacramento. Also present were Raymond Camacho, Assistant Director of Electric Utility, and Barry McCarthy, counsel, for the City of Santa Clara. Pope identified the City and its electric utility, Silicon Valley Power, including its membership in the Northern California Power Agency (NCPA). Pope and Camacho pointed out that the City's individual participation in the proceeding was narrowly focused, based on the City's ownership of the Grizzly Hydroelectric Project pursuant to the Mokelumne Settlement Agreement, and status as co-licensee of the Bucks Creek Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) license, proposed by Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) to be transferred to the new owner. Pope, Camacho and McCarthy pointed out that the City's consent to an assignment of the Settlement Agreement and consent to the proposed transfer of the Bucks Creek license would be required, but had not been specifically requested by PG&E. The City representatives stated that there had been very informal discussions with PG&E in an effort to find a resolution to these issues, but that to date no satisfactory resolution had been achieved.
