Order Instituting Investigation on the Commission's Own Motion Into the Planned Purchase and Acquisition by AT&T Inc. of T-Mobile USA, Inc., and its Effect on California Ratepayers and the California Economy.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
INVESTIGATION 11-06-009

ORDER INSTITUTING INVESTIGATION1. Introduction

By this Order, the Commission institutes an investigation into the proposed acquisition by AT&T Inc. (AT&T), the parent and/or beneficial owners (through various intermediary corporations) of California telecommunications utilities Pacific Bell d/b/a AT&T California (U1001) and New Cingular Wireless PCS, LLC (U3060C), of all the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock of T-Mobile USA, Inc. (T-Mobile),¹ which is the direct and/or beneficial owner of California telecommunications utility T-Mobile West Corporation (U3056C).

This acquisition, commonly referred to as a merger, affects Californians because the two companies, through their California subsidiaries, would have a combined total of approximately 20 million California wireless telephone and data customers, and over 47% of the California wireless market. The merger is also of interest to Californians because it would leave the affiliates of California's two largest incumbent local exchange carriers (ILECs), AT&T California and Verizon California Inc., with over 77% of the California wireless telephone market (voice and data), an increase from their current 65% share.

In addition to controlling the largest wireless carriers in California, the ILECs and their wireline affiliates also control most of the "backhaul" or "special access" facilities (between the cell tower and the local exchange carrier's central office or other switching location) on which wireless telecommunications services, including those provided by the other wireless competitors (Sprint/Nextel, MetroPCS, and Cricket, for example) depend. If the merger is completed, there will be a smaller pool of independent backhaul purchasers, with potentially less buying power.²

Our draft companion rulemaking to evaluate the status of Telecommunications Competition in California and its implications for regulatory policies (Competition OIR) proposes to evaluate market-wide regulatory issues including backhaul and special access policies. Wholesale, or special access services are recognized by this Commission as having great importance to the competitive retail market and prior decisions have maintained the requirement for special access services to be tariffed. However, most of the special access services purchased by competing wireless providers are purchased from the federal tariffs. The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has a pending proceeding addressing the issue of special access in which this Commission has intervened. This OII will examine merger-specific effects on competition and service, including backhaul and special access. General special access policy, including the longstanding but yet unresolved special access proceeding at the FCC, and intra-state special access service will be addressed in the Telecommunications Competition OIR.

The purpose of this Investigation is to investigate, gather, and analyze information relevant to the proposed merger to determine the specific impact of the merger on California and we will look at applicable law for guidance in reviewing this merger. This Order Instituting Investigation (OII) will analyze what, if any, conditions related to California-specific effects of the merger may be appropriate, and whether additional Commission action is warranted. We anticipate that this investigation will also develop a record to inform additional comments that the Commission may file with regard to the merger application at the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

2. The Commission's Authority to Review the Merger

Wireless carriers are "telephone corporations" and therefore public utilities under Public Utilities Code Sections 216, 233 and 234.³ (See, e.g., Decision (D.) 01-07-030, Appendix A, Interim Rules Governing Non-Communications-Related wireless carriers having smaller shares of the California market (Sprint and the smaller carriers will have an approximate 20% aggregate share of the wireless market).

³ Public Utilities Code section 216 defines "public utility" to include "telephone corporation"; section 234 defines "telephone corporation" to include any corporation controlling, operating, or managing a "telephone line" for compensation; and section 233 defines "telephone line" to include any "fixtures" or "personal property" operated or managed "in connection with or to facilitate communication by telephone, whether such communication is had with or without the use of transmission wires."

Charges on Telephone Bills, at 1, 6.) This Commission has asserted its jurisdiction to protect consumers of wireless/cellular telephone services:

Finally, we reiterate that our primary focus in the regulation of the cellular industry is the provision of good service, reasonable rates, and customer convenience.

(D.89-07-019, Re Regulation of Cellular Radiotelephone Utilities, 32 CPUC2d 271, 281.)⁴

Before 1993, the Commission had plenary jurisdiction over wireless or Commercial Mobile Radio Service (CMRS) carriers. In 1993, Congress passed the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 (Budget Act), which amended Section 332(c)(3)(A) of the Communication Act as follows:

. . . no state or local government shall have any authority to regulate the entry of or the rates charged by any Commercial Mobile Service or any Private Mobile Service, except this paragraph shall not prohibit a state from regulating the other terms and conditions of Commercial Mobile Service.⁵

⁴ See also D.01-07-030; D.96-12-071, Investigation on the Commission's Own Motion into Mobile Telephone Service and Wireless Communications (1996) 70 CPUC2d 61, 72-73 [stating that "we still remain concerned that the terms and conditions of service offered by each CMRS provider continue to provide adequate protection to consumers"].

CMRS refers to Commercial Mobile Radio Service, and includes Cellular Services, Personal Communications Services (PCS), Wide-Area Specialized Mobile Radio Services (SMR), Radio Telephone Utilities (RTU or paging) services, and many other wireless services. (D.96-12-071, supra, 70 CPUC2d 61, 65.) The terms "CMRS" and "wireless" are commonly used interchangeably with "cellular."

⁵ Codified at 47 USC § 332(c)(3)(A) (emphasis added). The legislative history of this provision of the Communications Act indicates what Congress meant by the language "other terms and conditions":

It is the intent of the Committee that the State still will be able to regulate the terms and conditions of these services

Shortly after passage of the 1993 Budget Act, the Commission instituted an investigation of the cellular industry in order "to develop a comprehensive regulatory framework consistent with the Federal Budget Act and our own statutory responsibilities." (OII 93-12-007, Investigation on the Commission's Own Motion into Mobile Telephone Service and Wireless Communications, 1993 Cal. PUC LEXIS 836.) The Commission's jurisdiction over wireless terms and conditions was subsequently confirmed by the California Court of Appeal. (Pacific Bell Wireless (Cingular) v. CPUC, (2005) 140 Cal.App.4th 718, 738; cf. MetroPCS v. FCC (DC Cir. 2011) 2011 U.S. App. LEXIS 9922 (affirming state jurisdiction to resolve CMRS-wireline interconnection disputes).)

Article 6 of the Public Utilities Code, sections 851-857, requires the Commission to review transfers of utility property. However, pursuant to section 853(b), the Commission may exempt a public utility or class of public utility from the requirements of Article 6. In 1995, the Commission examined its ongoing authority over wireless carriers in light of the 1993 Act.

[CMRS]. By "terms and conditions" the Committee intends to include such matters as customer billing information and packaging and billing disputes and other such consumer protection matters; facility siting issues (e.g., zoning); transfers of control; bundling of services and equipment; and the requirement that carriers make capacity available on a wholesale basis and such other matters as fall within the State's lawful authority. This list is intended to be illustrative only and not meant to preclude other matters generally understood to fall under "terms and conditions."

(House Report No. 103-111, at 251. Emphasis added.) The FCC also confirmed the CPUC's jurisdiction over "other terms and conditions" when it stated that it anticipated that the CPUC would continue to conduct appropriate complaint proceedings and to

In D.95-10-032, the Commission concluded that “[t]he transfer of ownership interests in a CMRS entity is not tantamount to [market] entry, and Commission jurisdiction over such transfers is not preempted under the federal legislation.” (D.95-10-032, Conclusion of Law (CoL) 9.) However, although the Commission’s jurisdiction over transfers of ownership was “not preempted,” the Commission decided as a matter of public policy to “forbear from exercising such authority,” except where such review or further analysis is “necessary in the public interest.” (Id. at CoLs 15, 18; Ordering Paragraph 3; see also id. at p. 16) (standing merger approval process “could inhibit the growth of competition to impose more restrictive requirements on CMRS providers than is necessary to discharge our responsibilities to protect the public interest”). Thus, the Commission established procedures whereby wireless carriers are required to provide 30-days advance notice to the Director of the Communications Division for certain types of transfers, including any proposed transactions involving a change of ownership in which an entity acquires a larger ownership share than the largest holding of any current owner. (D.95-10-032, Ordering Paragraph (OP) 3.) Further, pursuant to D.95-10-032, no preapproval is required unless the Commission notifies the carrier within the 30-day period that further information is needed or that a formal application is required. (D.95-10-032, OP 3.)

As set forth more fully below, we have concluded that further review and analysis of the AT&T/T-Mobile merger is in the public interest.

monitor the structure, conduct, and performance of CMRS providers. (See May 19, 1995 FCC Order Denying the CPUC’s petition to continue to regulate CMRS rates.)

3. Procedural Background

On April 21, 2011, AT&T provided this Commission an initial notice of the proposed transfer. On May 3, 2011, AT&T vacated its initial notice and provided a revised notice pursuant to Rule 6.1 (information-only filings) of General Order (GO) 96-B. The Director of the Communications Division (CD) designated the notice as Advice Letter (AL) 160 for tracking purposes only. On May 19, 2011, Sprint filed a “protest” to the AL 160.⁶

At the May 26, 2011 Commission Meeting, the Commission directed CD staff to notify AT&T that AT&T’s 30-day notice was suspended on the basis of staff’s earlier requests for further information. The Commission also directed staff to draft and present to the Commission an OII into the merger, to gather facts and analyze data relevant to whether the proposal complies with applicable California law. In addition, the Commission directed staff to prepare comments to file at the FCC regarding the Commission’s preliminary investigation of this merger and its OII process. On May 27, 2011, the Director of CD sent AT&T a letter informing AT&T that its information-only letter was suspended.

4. Federal Communications Commission Proceeding

On April 21, 2011, AT&T and Deutsche Telekom AG (T-Mobile’s parent company) filed applications with the FCC pursuant to sections 214 and 310(d) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. §§ 214, 310(d)), seeking FCC consent to transfer control of the licenses and authorizations held by T-Mobile USA, Inc. and its subsidiaries to AT&T Inc. (WT Docket No. 11-65.) The FCC’s goal is to complete action on transfer of control applications (i.e., granting, designating for hearing, or denying) within 180 days of the release of public notice, which in this case was April 28, 2011. Therefore, it appears that the FCC may issue a decision granting or denying the merger by the end of October 2011.

5. Review of the Merger is Merited

Since 2002, the wireless telecommunications industry has consolidated from seven major wireless carriers to four in 2010. If AT&T's proposed merger were approved, only three major wireless carriers with substantial market share would remain, as shown in the following chart:⁷

⁷ Source: Strategy Analytics, published by the Washington Post website, and available at http://www.washingtonpost.com/business/economy/wireless-company-mergers-since-2002/2011/03/21/AByLkf9_graphic.html.

While there are smaller, regional carriers in the market (like MetroPCS and Leaf/Cricket, having an aggregate 9.7% national market share (smaller in California),⁸ as well as pure resellers like TracFone Wireless, Inc., the loss of a major carrier requires further analysis by this Commission. Post-merger market concentration will be greater in California than nationally.⁹

We also recognize that the wireless market has been dynamic, gaining more than 100 million customers since 2002 as the above chart demonstrates. Wireless devices and network capabilities have revolutionized communications. Regulatory policies should facilitate innovation, service, and dynamic competition.

However, due to the increase in concentration in the wireless market that would result from this proposed merger, and the fact that the concentration increase would be greater in California than nationally, we find it reasonable to gather facts and receive comments in this Investigation in order to analyze whether the proposed merger comports with California law, and to inquire into the effects of such consolidation on California customers and the California economy.

Concentration in the wireless market would increase significantly as a result of this proposed merger. In addition, the increase in wireless market concentration would be greater in California than nationally if the merger is approved. Consequently, we find it in the public interest to gather facts and receive comments in this Investigation to assess the effects of such consolidation on California customers and the California economy.

⁹ Whereas a post-merger AT&T would have a combined wireless market share of approximately 42% nationally, it would have over 47% in California. The differential would be larger in mobile broadband, where AT&T's post-merger market share in California would be over 55%, whereas nationally it would be in the 42% range.

6. Order Instituting Investigation

As stated above, this Investigation will be the procedural vehicle for the Commission to review the merits of the merger and take appropriate action based on our analysis. This Commission intends to comment on the FCC proceeding. In order to do so, the Commission has targeted the ending date of this proceeding so that it is around the time the FCC has announced its proceeding may finish. Moreover, a number of issues can only be decided by the FCC, including whether to approve the AT&T and T-Mobile merger on a national basis. A lengthy proceeding here, which could continue long after the FCC has made its decision, could prevent us from having meaningful participation in the FCC process.

The scope of the Investigation adopted in this OII allows a thorough consideration of the proposed merger within a schedule consistent with the FCC's anticipated timeline.

7. Respondents and Interested Parties

We make the following utilities Respondents in this case:

Scoping Memo, we describe the issues to be considered in this proceeding and the timetable for resolving the proceeding.

8.1. Issues to be Addressed

The scope of this Investigation includes all issues that are relevant to the proposed merger's impacts on California in order to inform this Commission's comments with the FCC, and determine whether any conditions should be placed upon a merged entity.

Bearing in mind the concerns the Legislature has identified in Article 6 of the Public Utilities Code, our limited resources and the FCC's and Department of Justice's concurrent investigations, we intend to focus this investigation on (but do not limit it to) the following issues that have the greatest impact on California:

1. Is this proposed merger in the public interest?
 - a. Would the merger, which is planned as a nationwide transaction, have specific or different effects in California? For example, would the merger result in less competition in the California marketplace for wireless telephone customers as compared to wireless telephone customers nationally?
 - b. How should the relevant market(s) be defined? How should the product market(s) be defined, as wireless telephone carriers, as smart phone carriers, or some other way? How should the relevant geographic market(s) be defined? Locally according to carriers available to consumers in a locality, regionally, by the state, or nationally?
 - c. Would the merger give the resulting entity monopsony power or increase the tendency to monopsony power including market power over equipment suppliers? If yes, then what impact would the merger have on choice and competition in handsets and related equipment?
 - d. How long, and to what extent, would the lower-priced T-Mobile plans continue to be available after the merger? Would the merger serve Californians who depend on low-priced wireless plans? What merger-specific and verifiable efficiencies would likely be realized by the merger?

2. What merger-specific and verifiable efficiencies would likely be realized by the merger?
3. Would innovation be promoted or constrained by the merger? For example, would the merger increase, maintain or diminish facilities and competition for wireless transmission services such as distributed antenna systems (DAS) and open distributed antenna systems (O-DAS)?
4. What impact would the merger have on the market for special access or backhaul services?
 - a. What alternatives to incumbents' special access backhaul facilities currently exist, and what alternatives would exist after the merger, for independent, competitive wireless carriers?
 - b. Would the smaller post-merger pool of independent, competitive wireless carriers purchasing special access backhaul from local exchange carriers affect the market power of those special access backhaul customers? Would the merger increase the market power of the local exchange carriers and/or their wireless affiliates with respect to special access backhaul services?
 - c. Would the merger increase the ability of the merging parties to impose exclusive or requirements contracts on purchasers of backhaul services? Would the merger increase the ability of the merging parties or their wireline affiliates to require that the entity seeking backhaul services buy a certain percentage of their backhaul services from the wireline affiliates of the merging parties?
5. Would the merger maintain or improve the quality of service to California consumers?
 - a. Is acquisition of T-Mobile's spectrum necessary to extend AT&T's service area or improve AT&T's existing service? Is AT&T using the spectrum it now has? Does it have concrete plans to build out the spectrum licensed to it? We note that in February 2011, AT&T filed an application with the FCC to acquire the 700 mhz wireless spectrum currently licensed to Qualcomm including the licenses to serve Los Angeles and San Francisco. How would these combined spectrum holdings, if approved, affect AT&T's wireless service, competition, and the California market? Is acquisition of both T-Mobile's and Qualcomm's California spectrum necessary to achieve the benefits AT&T plans to bring about through these transactions?

- b. Is the merger necessary to provide T-Mobile customers with advanced services, such as LTE (Long Term Evolution) services that facilitate data transfers and offer greater speed?
6. What California utility(ies) would operate the merged properties in California? Would the merger preserve the jurisdiction of the Commission and the capacity of the Commission to effectively regulate those utility operations in the state?
7. How does this merger affect the merging companies' employees, shareholders, subscribers, communities in which they operate, and the State as a whole?
8. Would the benefits of the merger likely exceed any detrimental effects of the merger?
9. Should the Commission consider conditions or mitigation measures to prevent significant adverse consequences which may result from the merger? What, if any, should those conditions or measures be?

In reviewing other proposed changes of control, the Commission has found that the proposed transaction is exempt from California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) review. See, e.g., D.09-10-056, D.09-08-017, D.06-02-033, and D.05-12-007. Respondents should address whether the proposed merger is exempt from CEQA review.

To assist in addressing these issues in this Investigation, the Respondents and Interested Parties are ordered to file responses to the Data Requests appended hereto as Appendix A.¹⁶ The obligation to respond to these Data Requests is an independent statutory obligation under Public Utilities Code Sections 311, 314, 581, 582, and 584, and is not dependent on the results of any motion practice initiated by Respondents or Interested Parties. AT&T should file its application submitted to the FCC in WT Docket No. 11-65, and the Respondents and Interested Parties should file in this proceeding full responses to all Commission staff data requests regarding the proposed merger. (The Commission staff data requests issued to date are appended hereto as Appendix B; any subsequent staff data requests will include deadlines for filing responses in this proceeding.) Section 9 below addresses the treatment of information and documents that the entities view as proprietary or confidential.

8.2. Schedule

We plan to substantially complete this inquiry in a manner sufficiently timely to provide comment to the FCC. With this goal in mind, we set the following schedule:

June 20, 2011	Deadline for parties to suggest additional data requests in letters to the Director of Communications Division, with service on all parties.
June 24, 2011	Deadline for AT&T to file in this proceeding its application filed at the FCC in WT Docket No. 11-65 and for Respondents and Interested Parties to file responses already provided to ¹⁶ We emphasize that, while staff has the authority to issue data requests without a Commission decision, we attach data requests to this OII to streamline and expedite the process. Staff has the discretion to clarify and add any additional data request it finds appropriate.

	Commission staff data requests regarding the proposed merger.
June 24, 2011	Deadline to file responses to Data Requests in Appendix A and any remaining responses to staff Data Requests in Appendix B.

July 7 or 8, 2011	Public Workshop in San Francisco re: facilities-based competition issues, with a particular focus on special access backhaul, lease and other contract arrangements, interconnection, and related issues. A public participation hearing will also be held in San Francisco.
July 15 or 29, 2011	Public Workshop in Silicon Valley re: innovation issues. This shall include, but is not limited to, handsets; distributed antenna systems, broadband, data transfer, etc.
July 20 or 21, 2011	Public Workshop in Los Angeles re: customer issues, including, but not limited to, price, service quality, customer service – small/individual, small business, and large enterprise customer representatives. A public participation hearing will also be held in Los Angeles.
July (dates TBD)	Public participation hearings in Orange County and the Central Valley
August 5, 2011	Deadline for filing Reply Comments (limited in scope to matters raised in Opening Comments and workshops, and limited to 25 pages), and supplemental factual showings in verified Declarations.

September 2, 2011	Target date for proposed decision, with subsequent comments (limited to 25 pages) and reply comments (limited to 5 pages) consistent with Rule 14.3.
October 6, 2011	Target date for Commission vote on a proposed decision.

For the public workshops, Respondents are directed to designate and provide as participants their employee or employees most knowledgeable regarding these subjects. Interested persons or organizations may also be invited to participate in the workshops. Workshop participants will be required to identify themselves, their relationship, if any, to the parties to the proposed transaction (including those filing Petitions to Deny at the FCC, e.g., Sprint Nextel), and whether the organization they represent has received funding in the past twelve months or has been promised funding from AT&T and/or T-Mobile, Sprint, or any other wireless or wireline telephone company or their foundation. Commenters and workshop participants are reminded that their statements are subject to Commission Rule 1.1, and must be true, correct, and complete to the best of the participant's knowledge.

Workshops and public participation hearings will be transcribed by a court reporter. The workshops shall be noticed as a public meeting per the Bagley-Keene requirements, with 10 days notice. If needed, the assigned Commissioner or Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) may modify the dates and locations of the workshops and public participation hearings, as long as all three workshops and four public participation hearings are completed no later than July 29, 2011.

Because of the expedited nature of this proceeding, there will be no Prehearing Conference, but rather the assigned ALJ shall convene an informal telephonic conference with parties as soon as possible after issuance of the OII, to address questions of the parties and procedural issues beyond the schedule set forth above, such as dates for discovery.

9. Treatment of Information and Documents Considered to be Confidential

Due to the expedited nature of this proceeding, the Commission will modify its standing procedures for the submission of information claimed to be confidential (Rule 11.4). The submitting party is not required to file a motion for submission of information and documents under seal. However, the designation of any document or information as confidential, highly confidential, or additional copying prohibited (see Protective Order incorporated as Appendix C below) shall constitute a representation by the submitting party, subject to the Commission's Rule 1.1, that the confidential, highly confidential or copying prohibited documents meet the requirements set forth for such designations. Other parties may challenge, via motion, the implied representation that such documents and/or information are confidential. Information and documents submitted under seal will be afforded the protections provided by GO 66 and Public Utilities Code section 583, absent a ruling otherwise by the assigned ALJ or a law and motion ALJ designated by the Chief ALJ.

To facilitate access by other parties while ensuring appropriate confidentiality protections, we adopt the Protective Order in Appendix C, which is largely based on the Protective Order and the Second Protective Order adopted by the FCC in its merger proceeding WT Docket No. 11-65. Any document containing information claimed to be "Confidential Information" or “Highly Confidential Information” should be marked as such consistent with the terms of the Protective Order in Appendix C and should be filed under seal, with service only on the assigned Commissioner, assigned ALJ, Commission staff who are on the service list, and persons who have met the conditions for access to such documents under the terms of the Protective Order. A party filing information and documents under seal should file at the same time a public version of such documents, labeled Redacted Confidential Documents and/or Redacted Highly Confidential Documents, as appropriate, as defined in the Protective Order in Appendix C.

Confidentiality issues will be handled by the assigned ALJ, or by a law and motion ALJ designated by the Chief ALJ. We expect the parties to cooperate in the facilitation of this Investigation, and to evince good faith with regard to such confidentiality issues. If necessary, the assigned ALJ or a law and motion ALJ may modify the Protective Order in Appendix C.

10. Categorization, Ex Parte Communications, and Need for Hearing

Rule 7.1(c) of the Commission’s Rules of Practice and Procedure provides that the OII shall determine the category of the proceeding and preliminarily determine the need for hearing. This proceeding is categorized as ratesetting.¹⁷ Parties must comply with the ex parte rules set forth in Rule 8.2(c) and Rule 8.3

¹⁷ When a proceeding does not clearly fit into any of the categories defined in Rule 1.3 (a), (d), or (e), the proceeding will be conducted under the rules applicable to the “ratesetting” category. (Rule 7.1(e)(2).) It is appropriate to classify this proceeding as ratesetting because (1) it does not clearly fit into any other category and (2) the ratesetting category is consistent with the type of review we are conducting here. We note that the Commission’s ex parte rules for ratesetting proceedings are similar to the “permit-but-report” ex parte procedures applicable at the FCC.

of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. The determination as to category is appealable under Rule 7.6. We preliminarily determine that formal evidentiary hearings are not needed, but the Commission may set this matter for hearing if contested material issues of fact remain after the initial comments, reply comments, and the three workshops.

11. Service of OII, Creation of Service List, Filing of Documents, and Subscription Service

We will serve this OII on the Respondents and Interested Parties, on the service list (parties, state service list, and information-only category) in I.93-12-007 (the Commission's investigation into mobile telephone service and wireless communications) and on the service list in Rulemaking 09-06-019 (the California High Cost Fund B rulemaking).

11.1. Creation of Service List

The Commission will create an official service list for this proceeding, which will be available at http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/published/service_lists. We anticipate that the official service list will be posted before the first filing deadline in this proceeding. Before serving documents at any time during this proceeding, parties shall ensure they are using the most up-to-date official service list by checking the Commission's website prior to each service date.

The entities named as Respondents and Interested Parties are parties to the proceeding and must participate in this proceeding. Process Office shall place the person designated to receive service as the party's representative on the service list. A Respondent or Interested Party may designate a different representative as described in Section 11.2 below.

Except for the Respondents and Interested Parties, service of the OII does not confer party status in this proceeding upon any person or entity, and does not result in that person or entity being placed on the service list for this proceeding. Procedures are set forth below for those interested in participating in this proceeding or monitoring the OII.

You may request to become a party by filing a motion (Rule 1.4(a)(4)); you may also make an oral motion (Rule 1.4(a)(3)) at a public workshop or public participation hearing. To become a party, you must also comply with Rule 1.4(b). These Rules are in the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, which you can read on the Commission's website. To AT&T and T-Mobile

1. Provide corporate organization charts, indicating the relationship of the California Respondents herein, respectively, to the larger AT&T and T-Mobile corporate families, and particularly disclosing any corporate affiliates active in providing service to California customers.
2. What California utility(ies) would own, operate and control the merged wireless facilities and operations in California?
3. Provide executed exemplars of all forms of contract, and all tariff pages whether federal or intrastate, used with regard to California special access or backhaul facilities which AT&T sells or leases or otherwise provides to T-Mobile (currently), and Interested Parties Sprint, MetroPCS, and Cricket, in California.

- a. (For AT&T alone) Building on your response to Staff's previous Data Request 8(b)(i), provide for the most recent month available the total number of DS1, DS3, and any other backhaul for wireless services provided by AT&T for channel terminations in service in California, and identify the type of backhaul involved (DS1, DS3, other), as well as the total numbers billed at intrastate and interstate rates.
 - b. Provide a clear description, including the range of rates and the average rate, for DS1 and DS3 channel terminations (non-recurring - first and additional, and recurring charges, etc.) and DS1 and DS3 channel mileage (rates per mile, by fixed mileage, etc.) charges offered by AT&T for wireless backhaul service:
 - i. charged to AT&T affiliates (if any);
 - ii. charged to Verizon affiliates;
 - iii. charged to Sprint, MetroPCS, and Cricket; and
 - iv. charged to T-Mobile.
 - c. (For T-Mobile Only) Provide, as of the date of this Request, the total number of California cell sites where T-Mobile purchases its backhaul capacity (i) individually; (ii) on a shared basis with AT&T; and (iii) on a shared basis with a mobile wireless service provider other than AT&T. Please provide all standard forms of contract, other contracts, and/or tariffs which provide the terms, conditions, and rates for such purchases.
4. Regarding manufacturers from which you currently obtain handsets used on your networks:

- a. Provide by manufacturer and percent the distribution of wireless handsets (including smart devices) currently used on your networks. In addition to national figures, please provide data (or your best estimate) identifying by manufacturer and percent the distribution of wireless handsets on your California network.
 - b. State your current policy with regard to “the Apps Store” as it relates to the Android handset – specifically, do you and will you continue to allow consumers to download independent or unaffiliated applications onto devices designed to allow such downloads?
 - i. (For AT&T only) Provide an official policy statement or statements from AT&T regarding the accessibility of third party applications, like those of the Amazon App Store (see <http://www.wired.com/gadgetlab/2011/05/att-sideload-android-amazon/>), for Android devices on AT&T’s system.
5. Provide a status report on the construction of, or plans for construction of, distributed antenna systems (DAS) in California. Provide any agreements or other documentation of any understanding between you, or either of you (AT&T, T-Mobile), and any California municipality or other public body regarding the construction of DAS or O-DAS systems. Provide a clear description and drawings or other visualizations that would facilitate understanding of your DAS plans and operations in California, and indicate how and on what terms it will be open to other carriers, if at all.

To Respondents and All Interested Parties

6. Provide your best estimate of the market share of Respondents, MetroPCS, Sprint, Cricket and other wireless telephone providers in California, and do so on a state-wide basis, as well as providing such a market share analysis for each major metropolitan area in the State (see Appendix A to the AT&T merger “Public Interest Statement” filed at the FCC).
7. With regard to the Appendix A to the AT&T merger “Public Interest Statement” filed at the FCC (see <http://fjallfoss.fcc.gov/ecfs/document/view?id=7021240429>), state separately the total Cellular, PCS, 700 MHZ AWS and otherwise described spectrum which you own, hold, or otherwise control in each of the California markets identified in the above-referenced FCC Appendix A, what you believe to be the total spectrum available for wireless transmission in those markets, and spectrum known by you to be owned, held or otherwise controlled by those wireless carriers today.

- a. (For AT&T only) Identify the spectrum you propose to acquire from T-Mobile and Qualcomm in California.
8. Provide your view of the spectrum efficiencies, if any, that will be obtained by the proposed acquisition by AT&T of T-Mobile's spectrum and operations.
- a. What other merger-specific and verifiable efficiencies would likely be realized by the merger?
 - b. Is AT&T using the spectrum it now has? Does it have concrete plans to build out the spectrum licensed to it?
 - c. If AT&T acquires the Qualcomm spectrum, as it has proposed (<http://transition.fcc.gov/transaction/att-qualcomm.html>), how would these combined spectrum holdings, if approved, affect AT&T's wireless service, competition, and the California market? Specifically, how does this Qualcomm spectrum compare to AT&T's current spectrum holdings in the State and/or nation? How does it compare to the spectrum licenses AT&T would acquire from T-Mobile USA were the transaction approved as proposed? How would this additional spectrum from Qualcomm be utilized to deploy LTE? What additional capabilities would the Qualcomm spectrum provide the merged entity that would not be provided by the acquisition of the T-Mobile USA licenses?
 - i. Is the acquisition of both the Qualcomm and T-Mobile spectrum necessary to achieve the efficiencies and public interest benefits that AT&T hopes will result from the merger?
9. Would the merger, which is planned as a nationwide transaction, have specific or different effects in California? For example, would the merger result in less competition in the California marketplace for wireless telephone customers?
10. How should the relevant market(s) be defined? How should the product market (or markets) be defined, as wireless telephone carriers, as smart phone carriers, or some other way? How should the relevant geographic market (or markets) be defined? Locally according to carriers available to consumers in a locality, regionally, by state, nationally, or some combination of these? Provide citations to studies that exemplify the kind of market analysis that addresses the above,

11. Would the merger give the resulting entity monopsony power or increase the tendency to monopsony power including market power over equipment suppliers? If yes, then what impact would the merger have on choice and competition in handsets and related equipment?
12. Would innovation be promoted or constrained by the merger?
 - a. For example, would the merger increase, maintain or diminish facilities and competition for wireless transmission services such as distributed antenna systems (DAS) and open distributed antenna systems (O-DAS)?
 - b. How would the merger affect handset competition and innovation?
13. What impact would the merger have on the market for special access or backhaul services?
 - a. What alternatives to incumbents' special access backhaul facilities currently exist, and what alternatives would exist after the merger, for independent, competitive wireless carriers?
 - b. Would the smaller post-merger pool of independent, competitive wireless carriers purchasing special access backhaul from local exchange carriers affect the market power of those special access backhaul customers? Would the merger increase the market power of the local exchange carriers and/or their wireless affiliates with respect to special access backhaul services?
 - c. Would the merger increase the ability of the merging parties to impose exclusive or requirements contracts on purchasers of backhaul services? Would the merger increase the ability of the merging parties or their wireline affiliates to require that the entity seeking backhaul services buy a certain percentage of their backhaul services from the wireline affiliates of the merging parties?

14. What affect, if any, might the merger have on roaming agreements and arrangements between AT&T and other wireless carriers?

To AT&T, Verizon California, Inc., and Verizon Wireless

15. Describe and provide all documents comprising any agreement or understanding, written or oral, in effect between either Verizon Wireless and/or Verizon Communications Inc., and AT&T or T-Mobile, as of the date of this Request, in which either has any preferential rights, including rights of first refusal or lower rates, on collocation on or backhaul provided by the other to cell sites.

To Interested Parties Sprint, Cricket, Metro PCS

16. Provide executed exemplars of all forms of contract, and all tariff pages whether federal or intrastate, used with regard to California special access or backhaul facilities which you purchase or lease or otherwise obtain from AT&T in California.

- a. Provide for the most recent month available the total number of DS1, DS3, and any other channel termination backhaul services provided to your company by AT&T for channel terminations in California, and identify the type of backhaul involved (DS1, DS3, other), as well as the total numbers of such facilities billed at intrastate and interstate rates.

- b. Provide your understanding of AT&T's special access offerings for wireless backhaul including the range of rates, and the average rate, for channel termination (first, non-recurring, and recurring charges, etc.) and channel mileage (rates per mile, by fixed mileage, etc.).

- c. Provide contracts and tariff pages, and an explanation similar to the one requested above, for Verizon special access offerings, to the extent they differ materially from those offered by AT&T.

17. If you believe that the merger will lead to increased market concentration in California, should the Commission consider and propose or impose conditions to prevent significant adverse consequences which may result from the merger? What, if any, should those conditions be?

4 Copying Sensitive Documents. If, in the reasonable judgment of the Submitting Party, a Stamped Confidential Document or Stamped Highly Confidential Document contains information so sensitive that copying of it should be restricted, the Submitting Party may mark the document with the legend "Additional Copying Prohibited."
